Shirley Ryan AbilityLab

The Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago was founded in 1953 and recently renamed Shirley Ryan AbilityLab. The 242-bed flagship hospital in downtown Chicago has been designated the #1 Rehabilitation Hospital in America by U.S. News & World Report every year since 1991. This is the first-ever “translational” research hospital in which clinicians, scientists, and technologists work together in the same space, surrounding patients, discovering new approaches and applying (or “translating”) research in real time.

Case Study

In 2018, the Academy began work with a hospital system that was opening its first ever inpatient rehabilitation program with 160 beds. Our faculty developed a continuing education program that enabled new clinicians to come together as an interdisciplinary team to learn the basics of rehabilitation care. They practiced a team approach for the treatment of a wide range of adult and pediatric diagnoses including brain injury, stroke, spinal cord injury, and amputation. All of this content was delivered in a cloud-based learning management system that the hospital now uses to administer the curriculum for over 250 clinical staff.

Whether you need a comprehensive orientation program, a two day in-person course on a specific topic or online access to a continuing education series for your teams, we would be happy to discuss your clinical needs and how we help.

Contact Rebecca Bagdy at 312.238.1622

for more information about our customized programs for hospital systems and teams.

2019-20 Live Courses

Our interdisciplinary curriculum emphasizes hands-on experiences, with patient models, so you will start applying new knowledge immediately. When you attend an in-person course, you can participate in an optional tour of the Shirley Ryan AbilityLab to see our translational model of care in action. In fact, many workshops take place in the ability labs, where you can see first-hand how we integrate research clinical care while learning practical skills that you can take home.
